No signatures, no recall for county commissioners named in petitions

By Dennis Mansfield
Managing Editor

Recall efforts against three of the six members of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners will die if those sponsoring the recall petition do not meet a June 30 deadline.

The petitions filed against commissioners Robert McLachlan, Larry Mattis and Loren Goodale must be returned to the county clerk's office before Thursday, June 30. Under state election laws, petitions to recall commissioners cannot be filed within the last six months of the commissioner's term of office, which end on Dec. 31 of this year, or the first six months of office.

According to County Clerk Beth Wieland, none of the petitions have been returned with signatures as of Tuesday, June 28, just two days before the deadline.

"I haven't even received a phone call to see how many signatures they need," Wieland added.

Originally, petitions against four members of the county board in March, including one against Chairman Dennis Long, were filed but declared invalid. A second set of petitions for McLachlan, Mattis and Goodale were then filed and declared valid by the Crawford County Board of Election Commissioners. The board consists of Wieland, County Treasurer Joseph Wakeley and Probate Judge John Hunter.

The petitions against Mattis and Goodale were sponsored by former county Commissioner Joseph Callewaert and Richard W. Johnson, respectively. The petition against McLachlan was sponsored by Garland "Bud" Joyce.

Joyce said he does not expect any signed petitions to be handed in to the clerk's office. He added that because of health reasons he had not "pushed" to get signatures.

"I doubt if there will be any," Joyce said. "Seriously, if I were to do it, my name would be the first one on it."

Joyce said he was given the petition to sponsor by members of the Citizens for Environmental Awareness and Accountability in Government (CEAAG), who told him they would contact him to collect the signed petitions.

"Since nobody has approached me, I don't know if there will be any," he added. "Personally, I think it's ridiculous at this time to do any pushing for signatures on anyone's part."

Joyce said voters will have their chance to oust current board members in the upcoming August primaries and November general election. All six members of the board of commissioners have filed for re-election bids.

McLachlan said he believes those sponsoring the petitions never intended to collect signatures.

"No, that doesn't surprise me," McLachlan said, when told no signatures had been collected. "Like I said at the time, it was just used to intimidate township officials."

The recall petitions were filed just prior to the townships and City of Grayling voting on the then controversial amendment to the county

Solid Waste Management Plan that would have allowed a total of 26 counties to dispose of household waste at the landfill in Maple Forest Township, owned by City Environmental Services Inc. of Waters. Four of the seven municipalities voted against the amendment.

If any petitions are turned in, those named in the recall petitions have 30 days to challenge signatures listed, with an election having to be scheduled within 60 days of the signed petitions being filed.

REVIEW THE TROOPS--Gov. John Engler honors Col. Owen Moon, commander of Camp Grayling, with the federal Meritorious Service Medal for his service in Latvia as a military liaison. An awards ceremony was part of the Annual Training Review of Troops and Memorial Service held at the camp on Friday, June 24.

Additional trustees added to ballot

Ballot proposal would add two trustees to Grayling Township board if passed by voters

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

Voters in Grayling Township will have the final say as to whether two trustee positions will be added to the township board.

The question will be proposed to residents in the general election to be held Tuesday, Nov. 1, and if passed, two additional trustees would be elected to office in the 1995 general election and take office in 1996.

The action to propose the question to voters was decided at the Grayling Township annual meeting on Saturday, June 25. Trustee John Medler made the motion, "to put the question on the November ballot to authorize the election of two additional trustees."

"I think we can use the representation," said Medler. "There are numerous reasons to have two more people."

"Do we have to be a charter township to add two trustees?" asked Treasurer Ruth O'Mara.

"No," replied Supervisor Arnold Stancil. "Our population dictates that we can if we want, but we don't have to."

"There are too few people that have too much to say in this county," said resident June Hatt. "I think we need more trustees."

The issue of adding two trustees came about when Grayling Township's population qualified it to become a charter township. To become a charter township would require the addition of two trustee positions.

Stancil has said the population-per-square-mile of Grayling Township, which was 31.72 in the 1990 census, doesn't warrant the addition of trustees, nor does he think it warrants charter status.

Medler has pushed for the addition of the two trustee positions based on better representation to the residents. Medler asked that the issue be put on the annual meeting agenda.

After a short discussion, a show of hands from the seven residents in attendance passed the motion unanimously.

"The motion passes," said Stancil. "It will be on the ballot this fall."

In other action, residents voted to reinstate funding a portion of road improvements to county roads within the township.

Until recently, Grayling Township had paid 25 percent of township road improvement costs, with the Crawford County Road Commission paying 50 percent and the people paying the other 25 percent through special assessments.

Recently, Grayling Township had paid nothing for road improvements. The motion to reinstate left the percentage of funds to be reinstated up to the determination of the five-member Grayling Township Board of Trustees.

Five years, and still an enigma.

Five years and two stores later, Cartwright and Danewell is still an enigma. Both stores are located in Grayling, but are entirely different in what they offer. The older store, located just west of Grayling on M-72, is a specialty outdoor store offering the largest selection of canoes and kayaks in a multiple state area, as well as just about anything hikers, campers and outdoor lovers could possible want. The new store, located at 108 Michigan Avenue, downtown, is an upscale women's and men's shop offering classic clothing and gifts to the discriminating shopper.

"No one believed we'd last five months, not to mention five years. We have worked very hard on an idea whose time had come. It's a lot different now; in the beginning my wife, Ellen, and I did it all. We wouldn't be where we are today if it weren't for Ellen. She makes sure everything is accounted for and keeps me on track too!

We are gifted with having excellent people on our team. Two years ago our son Scott left the bustle of the city of Houston, TX, to help out and has been here ever since. Patti Gorten has been with us nearly four years and was dispatched to our downtown store about a year ago where she has added her special personality. Julie Calkins has been our soft goods coordinator for both stores and her talents are evident in the style, colors and groups we offer. Cindy Larson rounds out our full time staff and is energetically keeping things straight at our M-72 location. We have four part time staff, all with special talents and personalities. Dan Van Nuck, while still in high school has been with us about a year and will be heading our snowboard department in the fall. Lanice Rubin, a most gifted individual, helps us with interior displays; her work is magical. Kelly Walters and Carrie Wells are new to the Cartwright and Danewell family and we hope they will be with us a long time.

Over 10,000 people have visited over the years, many becoming frequent visitors and some a couple times a year during their treks north. We believe our customers are the very best and thank each and every one for their patronage.

Our greatest debt is to Skip and Gail Madsen, owners of Skip's Sport Shop, without whose help in the beginning, support along way, and lasting friendship, we would not be here today. Ours is a debt of everlasting gratitude.

Cartwright and Danewell never has and never will be satisfied with being a copy-cat store. Shoppers will find satisfaction in knowing they're buying classically-forever, yet-always-now clothing and accessories at sensible prices. Classic style and quality are never out of style and are the hallmark of prudent buyers.

One of our patrons mentioned that 'when buying at Cartwright and Danewell one isn't keeping up with the Joneses, one is a Jones. Quality, style, and knowing your not a part of the cookie-cutter, look-a-like world of the mass marketers, just makes you feel good.

If you haven't visited the Cartwright and Danewell stores, you'll never know why people travel over 200 miles to shop here."

State Senate approves education budget

The Michigan Senate passed the FY 1994-95 Higher Education budget, totalling $1,359,377,235 announced Sen. John J. H. Schwarz (R-Battle Creek).

Schwarz, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Higher Education, said, "This compromise demonstrates the Legislature's and the Governor's commitment to continue our tradition of support for Michigan's state universities, private colleges, and those young men and women who attend them."

"Included in this bill is an increase of 3.4 percent in state general fund dollars over last year's appropriation for the 15 state universities. In addition, these universities will also receive a 5.5 percent increase in federal funding."

Schwarz continued, "All universities will receive a minimum increase in their base funding of 2.3 percent, with some schools receiving more, depending on the level of appropriations received in previous years. All schools at this point, are receiving at least $3,500 per full-year student in state aid."

In addition, for the first time in several years, the state universities will receive a total of $25 million, to maintain older campus buildings. This will be divided among the schools on the basis of classroom square footage.

"Michigan leads the nation in its ongoing support for public higher education," said Schwarz. "With the budget increases in 1994-95, the 1993 capital outlay program for university classroom and laboratory construction, and the 1994 appropriation for deferred maintenance on each campus, Michigan's 15 public universities are well positioned to move forward through the 90s and into the 21st century."

"Eight generations of Michiganders have helped build the finest system of state supported higher education in the country. The additional benefit of the state appropriation increase should, be tuition restraint by all universities," according to Schwarz.

A local jury awarded a total of $1.6 million on June 21st to Steven Heinz and $1,000 to his former business in a civil suit versus First National Bank of Gaylord.

After a three-week trial in the 46th Circuit Court in Grayling with Judge Alton T. Davis presiding, the jury awarded the money to Hentz, former owner of Gaylord Aggregate and Concrete Block. FNB had filed a counter suit for $200,000, but the jury did not award any money to the Gaylord bank.

Hentz alleged his business was harmed after a loan, apparently verbally promised by FNB officials, was not processed, according to reports. FNB officials issued a statement after the trial, saying they will appeal the verdict.

Grayling City Council approves 1994-95 budget

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

With budget deficits causing government program cutbacks across the nation, the City of Grayling will again have a balanced budget. The five member Grayling City Council voted unanimously to adopt its 1994-95 budget on Monday, June 13.

City Manager Jerry Morford indicated there are few changes from the 1993-94 budget.

"The budget is balanced," Morford said. "My approach to budgeting has always been conservative. I tend to underestimate revenues and overestimate expenses. I want to have a positive balance at the end of the year."

"We've never had a deficit, or a huge surplus," Morford added.

Under the new budget, the millage rate for 1994-95 will remain at 14.8 mills on a state equalized value (SEV) of $34,996,000. The SEV is composed of $5,204,000 in personal property and $29,792,000 in real property.

The budget contains funds set aside in specific earmarked categories for capital replacement, including the cemetery perpetual care fund, fire department fund, internal service fund and water/sewer fund.

"The City Manager is very, very good at budgeting," said Grayling Mayor Robert Golnick. "Even when times were tough, and other cities were raising taxes, we were able to lower them. We've gone from 23.5 mills when I first came on the council to 14.8 mills today."

"We even paid cash for our new firetruck," Golnick added. "He (Morford) doesn't waste any money. We're lucky to have him."

Morford listed five major projects the city will undertake this year. They included:

1) Repainting the city water tower. Work is scheduled to begin within the next month by Aero-painting of Elkhart Lake, WI. Total cost for the project is $45,100.

2) The placement of a few hundred feet of sidewalks on various streets. Work is scheduled to begin in July after bids are awarded. The expected cost is about $152,000.

3) Resurfacing Norway Street, last paved in 1972, and a portion of Peninsular Street at an expected cost of about $88,000. Construction is scheduled to begin in July after bids are awarded.

4) Widening of the back bridge (Maple/State Street Bridge). Bids will be let in July to widen the bridge by 6 feet on each side. The sidewalk will continue to be on the upstream side of the bridge but will be confined outside the street guardrail. Construction is scheduled to begin close to Labor Day with completion sometime in the fall. Cost estimates have not been completed.

"There will probably be a short term closure of the bridge," Morford said. "That will be discussed at the pre-construction meeting."

5) Water and road construction in the Grayling Industrial Park to accommodate new industry. Costs, construction and completion schedules have yet to be determined.

Three-car accident sends woman to Mercy Hospital

A three-vehicle accident which included a Crawford County Transportation Authority (CCTA) bus, sent a Gaylord woman to Grayling Mercy Hospital on Wednesday, June 22.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the I-75 Business Loop and North Down River Road at approximately 8:53 a.m.

According to authorities at the Grayling City Police Department, the CCTA bus driven by John Rasmussen had been traveling south on the business loop when it stopped to make a left turn onto North Down River Road. Another vehicle driven by Sally Merrill, 43, of Gaylord had stopped behind the bus. Merrill's vehicle was then hit from behind by a vehicle driven by Annette Krajenka, 30, of Grayling.

Merrill reportedly suffered injuries and was taken to Mercy Hospital by North Flight EMS, where she was treated and later released.

The CCTA bus received a dented fender and later continued on its way. The two automobiles received extensive damage and were towed away.

Passengers on the CCTA bus were not injured, according to police, but Krajenka was ticketed and released at the scene for failure to stop, failure to wear a seat belt, and driving on a suspended license. Two children, ages two and five riding with Krajenka, were reported to be wearing seat belts.

Information sought on local Civil War hero, Thomas Kechittago

An article in the 1993 Avalanche Memorial Day issue, about former Grayling resident Thomas Kechittago (1836-1916), has drawn the interest of Michigan historian and photographer Chris Czopek.

Czopek is compiling a history of the 1st Michigan Sharpshooters, a unit which fought during the Civil War. Kechittago rose to the rank of sergeant in that unit as a member of Company K, which consisted of all Native Americans. Company K fought valiantly through some of the largest battles of the war, and was one of the first units to march into Petersburg after a long and deadly siege. More than half the 125 members of Company K died in battle.

Kechittago came to Grayling in the late 1800s and in his later years was very active in the local chapter of the Grand Army of the Republic (G.A.R.) and was a member of the M.E. Church.

To aid Czopek in his research, he is asking anyone who may have known Thomas Kechittago, or any member of his family, to submit to an interview.

Czopek is also most interested in obtaining a picture of Kechittago, or any of his family members.

If you have information of Thomas Kechittago (also spelled Kechittago or Ke-Chetago) please contact Terry Wright at the Avalanche office by phoning 348-6811.

Grayling liquor commission store to close permanently August 1

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

The Grayling outlet of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission will be closing its doors on Aug. 1.

According to a communication from liquor commission Operations Director F.N. Gregory, the closure is necessitated by the deterioration of the present building, and the inability to find suitable facilities to move into.

"Our main concern is the 77 roof leaks which necessitate moving and/or covering merchandise whenever there is inclement weather, and setting up buckets and mopping up water to protect the liquor stock," Gregory said. "The working arrangements at this location have become unacceptable."

Gregory said another suitable location in Grayling could not be found.

"Potential landlords do not want to erect a facility for us due to the constant threat of privatization of the state's liquor business," Gregory stated.

According to longtime Grayling resident Lyle Billsby, who retired in 1979 after 39 years with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, there has been a state liquor store in Grayling since the early 1930s.

"I believe the first store was where Josie's (Flowers by Josie) is now," Billsby said. "After that it moved to Gaylord for a while, but came back after just a couple years."

Billsby listed six different locations for the store before it apparently found its final home within the former Bear Archery building on M-72 West.

Several years ago, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission closed its stores statewide to public retail customers in order to focus on serving liquor wholesale businesses. After Aug. 1, local businesses will have to travel to other branch offices to purchase their liquor. Other area stores are located in Cadillac, Traverse City, Gaylord, Houghton Lake and West Branch.

Grayling store manager Glenn Coon said he and his other employee Fred Reichelderfer, have been told they will be transferred to other stores after the Aug. 1 deadline.

Donating blood is safe, easy

Public concern regarding infectious diseases is understandable. However, to not let fear run the blood supply dry. Save a life this summer by making a blood donation.

It is impossible to get any infectious disease from donating blood. A needle is sterilized, used once and then destroyed after it is used on the donor. From the standpoint of disease transmission, donating blood is one of the safest social encounters a person can have.

Blood must be collected continuously in order to meet patient needs. Every day, approximately 300 units of blood must be collected to adequately supply 32 hospitals

To become a blood donor, you must be 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in good health. To find out more about saving a life this summer, simply contact the American Red Cross at (800) 432-0083. Remember, the life you save this summer could be someone you love. # ISSUES AND OPINIONS

STROLLING AROUND TOWN

By Fay Bovee

Did you see those bright yellow day-lilies at the Reynolds home on Park Street?

On Lake Street we saw Tootie Wylie's hanging baskets and flowers and saw that she has been out watering and gardening.

We have new neighbors this past year, David and Kathy Pflugrad and they've made a big improvement in the yard and the appearance of the house next door. Over on the corner of Ionia and Chestnut, another new neighbor has planted a tree and several flower beds where there were none before.

The Luke Petroskys in the former Worden house are really doing some housecleaning and starting to make improvements in the outside yard also. We especially appreciate the trimming of trees that used to cover part of the sidewalk.

On Maple Street the Richard Moshiers are continuing to add flowers and shrubs to their yard, as well as keeping the corner lot mowed. We believe some of the other neighbors have also helped with that corner lot. Thank you.

Our own flower bed needs constant weeding, but we've added flower boxes to the house and the terraces. Curt Kitchen's stonework next to our steps has eliminated some weeding and we think it looks much better.

As usual the Clark station at the north light has painted curbs and planted flowers again this year.

In another part of town; won't someone please empty that trailer of trash that's been sitting there for weeks, maybe months! You know who you are!

Supreme Court gets term limits

It could take a year or so for the process to unwind.

IT WAS INEVITABLE that the Supreme Court of the United States eventually would decide the volatile issue of term limits for members of Congress and the U.S. Senate.

By extension, limiting terms for state and local elected officials also may be affected.

The test case went to the court from Arkansas, where voters had approved an amendment to the state constitution to prohibit printing on ballots names of senators who already have served 12 years and House members who have served six years.

The Arkansas Supreme Court overturned the voter decision earlier this year, and the state appealed it to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Similar court action was underway in Washington state and perhaps others of the 15 states which by popular vote have tried to limit congressional terms, presumably other legal tests will await outcome of the Arkansas case.

ONE ANTI-LIMIT argument in Arkansas has been that the U.S. Constitution imposes only three limits on election to the House or Senate, and length of time in office is not one of them.

Article I of the Constitution requires that a House member must be at least 25 years of age and a U.S. citizen for seven years. A senator must be at least 30 and a citizen for nine years. Both must be residents of the state which they represent.

Term limits violate this article, anti-limit arguments contend.

Interestingly, the Constitution says nothing about congressional districting. It would be legal, for example, for a resident of Detroit to be elected to Congress from an Upper Peninsula district. In some parliamentary forms of government, long-distance representation is common.

IN ADDITION TO the usual arguments about making the legislative system responsive to popular will, and ousting entrenched and out-of-touch long-time members, pro-limit fans have some constitutional points in their favor, too.

Columnist George Will, one of the more articulate boosters of term limits, has pointed out that since the Constitution was written, states have repeatedly adopted restrictive ground rules for service in Congress, and term limits is just another one.

At one time, Virginia required candidates for the House to be "freeholders," meaning property owners, Mr. Will wrote.

In Washington state, where House Speaker Tom Foley, among others, also is opposing term limits on Constitutional grounds. Mr. Will pointed out that the state requires candidates to be registered voters — a restriction not in the U.S. Constitution.

In the first congressional elections, Mr. Will wrote, five of the 13 states held at-large elections for Congress, and James Madison wrote to Thomas Jefferson in 1788: "It is perhaps to be desired that various modes shall be tried."

Concluded Mr. Will: "Term limits are just another mode, and should receive the tolerance that is traditional on the part of courts toward state discretion in this area."

AS ONE OF 15 states where voters already have approved some form of term limits, Michigan voters' desires may well ride on what the nine Supreme Court justices finally decide.

In 1992, Michigan voters decided to limit terms of both state and federal lawmakers, to take effect in 1998.

The Michigan limitation is that no person can be elected to the U.S. Senate to more than two six-year terms in a 24-year period, nor to the U.S. House for more than three two-year terms during any 12-year period.

Similar restrictions are placed on state legislators.

The U.S. Supreme Court could take several roads. Deciding narrowly on the specific Arkansas case of printing ballots is one.

It would be more helpful if the final decision is broader, and covers the whole question of whether states, in any manner, may limit the election of members of the federal legislative process.

The 15 states which already have approved term limits represent 40 percent of the nation's population. Another seven states are due to vote on term limits this year.

The stakes are important. So will be the Court's decision.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT By Joe Murphy

We both loved horses and riding, dogs and hunting, and at times just sitting and talking.

He always had an interesting story to tell me when we sat down to rest awhile together. His childhood was spent on a farm or a lumber camp, where he met many of the old timers of the early lumbering era in Michigan. I would have to wish every child a relationship with their dads as nice as I enjoyed with mine.

I have to wonder why we have a Mother's and Father's Day as separate holidays. Why aren't they both honored at the same time with a "Parents' Day." As I see things, mom and dad should not be separated even by a holiday.

We have had some real hot weather of late, and though even dressed as lightly as possible, it is plain miserable. When I see the National Guards in those heavy camouflage uniforms with helmets and a belt full of gear around their waist, I have to wonder how they can stand it. They must sweat rivers as they train in heat like we have had lately.

Anyone who thinks they are only here for fun and games should try working in heavy clothing in that hot sun, and I am sure they would soon change their mind.

The old man has been busy chasing yard sales on the weekends. I have not found much, but what the heck, if I found too much I would soon be broke and have to stay home. I seem to find a few goodies that I can't live without and have some new toys to play with all week. I can't stand having things around without knowing if they work or not.

Say I buy something for two dollars. I may have to spend $10 for parts or batteries just to find out if it works. Most of the time when I get it working, I put it away and soon forget I even have it. But I have fun, which is the main thing.

I meet some wonderful folks as I travel around such as Mrs. Graham, whom I met yesterday. I had known her late husband, Ken, for several years. When I lived on the farm, he often stopped in for a visit. We always seemed to have lots to talk about. I remember one day we were talking and had been for awhile when Carolyn left to come to Grayling to do her weekly shopping. When she came back an hour or so later Ken and I were still sitting in the shade talking.

Mrs. Graham had read of my thing about pocket knives and had some put away for me. Thank you, kind lady, from the bottom of my heart.

KIWANIS HELPS YOUTH FITNESS—In keeping with their priority of helping kids, Grayling Kiwanis Treasurer Robert J. Hannan presents a check for $400 to Grayling Elementary teacher Kathryn Marohn to enable both Grayling and Frederic elementary schools to join the Fitness for Youth program. This program is funded by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan in partnership with the University of Michigan, working together to improve the physical performance and well-being of youth. America's youth are at risk for poor health and fitness, drug usage, school failure, crime and disconnecting from society. They are at risk for not being prepared for productive citizenship and employment. The surgeon general of the United States has stated, "...the fitness of our youth is a national tragedy...." The Public Health Service has set a goal that 50 percent of U.S. children are able to participate in daily school physical education by the year 2000.

Laws designed to discourage underage drinking and driving

AAA Michigan commended the state legislature on June 10 for enacting two separate laws designed to discourage underage drinking and driving.

Public Act 31 -- effective June 1 -- makes it a misdemeanor to knowingly allow underage drinking at a social gathering, or to knowingly allow anyone to consume or possess a controlled substance at a social gathering. The law applies to an owner, tenant, or any other person who has control over any premises, residence or other property.

House Bill 4839 -- awaiting the governor's signature -- makes it illegal for a person under the age of 21 to operate a motor vehicle on a highway if the person has a blood alcohol content (BAC) of .02 percent. The previous standard was .10 BAC.

"It is gratifying to see our elected representatives take action on an issue of utmost importance to Michigan motorists," said AAA Michigan Vice President of Corporate Relations Larry Givens. "This legislation will help make our highways safer for everyone and reinforce the message that drinking and driving don't mix."

BITS OF TALK

By Fay Bovee

Moe and Sandi Enos of Grayling are happy over the arrival of Steven Everett Enos who was born on May 14, 1994, at Otsego Memorial Hospital. He weighed 8 pounds 9 ounces and was 20 1/4 inches long. Grandparents are Mrs. Ann Enos of Curtisville and Edward and Nancy Maskelis of Inkster.

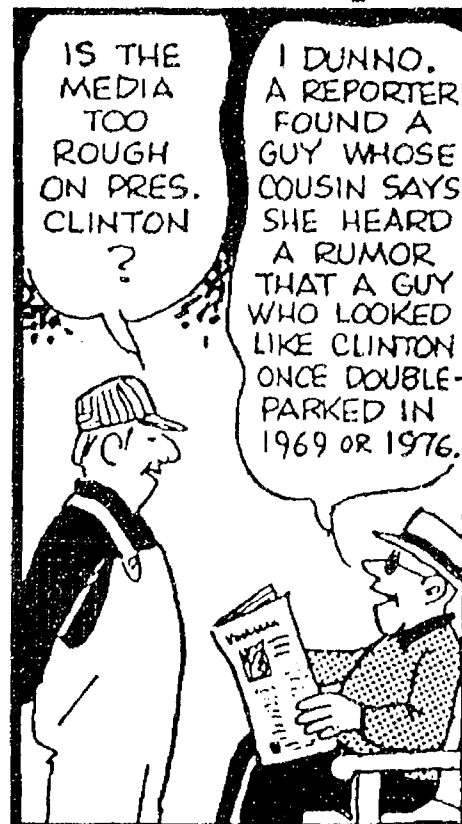

Guests of Gale and Barbara Humes at their home at Penrod's was their daughter and family, Jan and George Merrill and daughter, Claire, of Hartford, CN. During the week, they did a lot of sight-seeing in the area and visited Fort Michillimackinac.

David Brown flew into Los Angeles on Thursday, June 16, from Korea where he has been stationed for the past year. In California, he visited his aunt, Donna, until June 20 when he arrived at Traverse City and was met by his mother, D. J. Brown. He is visiting family in Michigan and attending his older sister, Jennifer's wedding while on leave. He leaves for his next assignment in Hawaii on July 13.

We're continuing our search for Civil War veterans' graves. And concentrating on the new section of Elmwood Cemetery. Would someone in our reading audience be related to Daniel Waldron? Or does anyone have any information on his death? If so, would you please contact me, Fay Bovee at 517-348-7017 or P.O. Box 151, Grayling, or contact Terry Wright at the Avalanche at 517-348-6811. We'd appreciate any clues. Thanks.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN BY PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

A Fool and Her Money are Soon Reunited

Dear Mr. Ross: I was elated the day your check arrived. I took the bus to the bank and cashed it. It was a beautiful day and I was feeling so good I decided to walk the mile home. I was thinking my luck had finally changed when I came across a man who was down and out. I listened to his sad story and wound up giving him $100. That left me $365.

I figured I could get a good used washer for that instead of a new one like I had asked you for. I was almost home when a neighbor stopped me. Oh, the trouble she has! Her husband ran off and she's got 4 kids to feed. There went another $150 leaving me with $215. Then my sister called. Her elderly cat needed vet attention so I told her to come over and I gave her $200. Now I'm left with $15. As I see it, I can go to the laundromat for the next month at no cost to me. Thanks, Mr. Ross, for giving me the money to get a new washer. I'm sorry I was so foolish and gave your money away.
Ms. P. K. ... Daily Dispatch, Brainerd, MN

Dear Ms. K.: You're probably familiar with the line, "A fool and his money are soon parted". That applies to many people, but not to you or me. However, with the $465 I'm sending you this time, please use it to get a new washing machine.

Dear Mr. Ross: My lifestyle is paralyzing. I suffer from severe panic attacks and anxiety. It has taken over my life for the last 17 years. I'm 46 and have been sent from one doctor to another and my funds are gone. I can't work. My husband works in sales and I ride with him while he works, because I'm afraid to stay at home alone.

I've come across a self-help program. I pray this could be the answer. It has helped thousands of people but there is no way I can afford it. It's from the "Midwest Center for Stress and Anxiety" and consists of 16 cassette tapes and study books. I can't drive anymore so this I could do at home. If you could find it in your heart to help, I would re-pay you. I've never written a letter like this before and wish I didn't have to now but I'm sure this is my last hope. The cost is $290 and to me that's a fortune. Please help me.

Desperate ... Star Advertiser, Alpena, MI

Dear Desperate: Panic attacks are indeed a crippling disorder, which can make you a prisoner in your own home. I empathize with you for having to live with this for the last 17 years. Be held hostage by this disorder no more, for I'm sending you $290. As for repayment, your ability to be a productive member of society will be considered payment in full.

Dear Percy Ross: My mother clips your column and sends it to me. She's always trying to show me that things have a way of working out. I'm 37 and am a single parent raising a 14 year old son. Eight years ago I was hospitalized for a mental illness. Even with the help of medication our lives have been rocky. I have a difficult time keeping jobs and we end up living on a very limited income. My son is very good to me. He's classified as gifted and talented. Because of raising him alone, I started him in baseball when he was 4 years old. The coaches have been his idols and role models. He gets so much help there. My problem right now is money. I haven't been able to find him used baseball shoes this year because his feet are a men's size now and they're hard to find in second hand stores. He also needs the $50 fee for a uniform. My son is never happier than when he's playing baseball. Perhaps you can help keep him in the game.
Ms. L. C. ... Evening Telegram, Superior, WI

Dear Ms. C.: For my investment of $150 I really don't expect your son to autograph a baseball for me should he reach the major leagues. What I do expect is that he continue to enjoy playing the game. My check's in the mail and let your son know that coach Ross is rooting for him all the way.

Write Percy Ross, P.O. Box 39000-B, Minneapolis, MN 55439. Include your phone number and name of this publication. All letters are read. Only a few are answered in this column; others may be acknowledged privately.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

By Jan Farley

Special thought for the week: It's easy to see through people who make spectacles of themselves.

Once again the White Elephant Auction brought in a great many people to buy other's discards! We keep saying that one person's trash is another's treasures... and so it is. Thanks to everyone for their support.

We saw a good many of you at the hot dog sale at Glen's on Friday and Saturday. It was lovely weather for ducks, but we sure needed that rain more than we needed to sell more hot dogs! People are very kind, even in bad weather, to a good cause. Many thanks to all who participated; the many volunteers and our many customers. A good time was had by all.

Speaking of good times, I hear the RSVP Recognition Dinner and Dance was a howling success. Cakes were made and hilariously decorated by the boys from Shawono and the activities room at the center was beautifully decorated in a Mardi Gras theme and looked wonderful.

Meals at the center are good, and well balanced plus you don't have to cook or do the dishes. Any senior, or spouse, in Crawford County that is 60 or older, regardless of income, race, creed and national origin, are welcome. Suggested donation is $1.50 and $2.50 for those under 60.

Reservations are needed because it is important to have an idea of how many people are coming so that we have enough food. Meals are served at noon and 2 p.m., Monday through Thursday and at noon on Fridays. Menus are subject to change and are listed as Lunch/Dinner:

June 30-Veal Parmesan/Hawaiian Chicken;
July 1-Ham Loaf;
July 4-Center is closed for the holiday;
July 5-Sweet & Sour Meatballs/Chicken Kiev;
July 6-Swiss Steak/Pasties;
July 7-Stuffed Peppers/Pork Roast;
July 8-Herbed Chicken.

Coming Events

Mark your calendars for:
"Hawaiian Dance" on the 30th at 5:30.

Remember the 4th of July is a holiday and the center will be closed.

Cards night on Tuesday, July 5th, at 5:30.

"BK" Bingo birthday party on Wednesday, July 6th, at 5:30, celebrating the July birthdays.

Sunday Brunch on July 10th.

The Parrot's Perch Boutique is an unusual gift store, featuring unique hand made jewelry, hand crafted gifts, and hand woven clothing and rugs.

"Our vision is to have a unique view, from the Parrot's Perch, of jewelry and gifts," Radzwion said. "We're really excited about offering something with a unique flavor to Grayling."

Other gift items include handmade candles, Fiddle Bow bread knives, stained glass sun-catchers and other hand blown glass collectibles, a line of primitive pottery, and baskets, and a unique line of signed and dated pottery and statuary from New Mexico.

"We have new merchandise arriving daily," Radzwion said. "We'll soon be carrying Campbell pottery."

GHS Project Graduation Committee Says "Thanks"

It is with a heartfelt thanks that we express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to the following industries, organizations, businesses, and people who helped make GHS Project Graduation '94 such a huge success. Without your donations, encouragement, and faith, this night would not have been possible. You have helped create a new tradition for the graduating senior classes to follow. We also express our thanks to the many wonderful people who saved their Glen's green slips and donated them to us.

A special thanks to the seniors who helped work to raise money at the pancake supper, Chris Gerling and Ken Rirkle for the hours spent in creating the photo mural of the Alpha-Romero, Chris Johnson who refereed the games, Sue McCurdy for taking all the photos, all the parents that helped decorate and worked so hard that night, to Jackie Liddle and Mark Schneider from Kirtland College who both were very helpful, Bonnie French for use of her van for a "shopping cart", to Anita Shepherd of Roscommon who came and spoke to the then junior class about what PG is all about, and to Sonya Palmerton, for if it had not been for her, we would not have known about Project Graduation. Note: Anyone wishing photographs of PG night, can contact Sue McCurdy at 348-8953. Thank you all! - The committees for GHS Project Graduation '94

Camp Grayling outlines natural resource programs

The Michigan Department of Military Affairs in April 1992 implemented the Integrated Training Area Management (ITAM) Program at Camp Grayling to help determine the land's ability to support training with the least impact on natural resources, including wildlife habitats. The Land Condition Trend Analysis (LCTA) Program is one component of ITAM. This program provides data on natural resources and a means to monitor impacts to them. Implementation will better distribute training loads on the land, reduce the need for expensive land restoration programs, take subjectivity out of land management decisions and serve as a basis of policy for use/non-use decisions for parcels of land. Biology field crews will work each May through September throughout Camp Grayling's 147,859 acres implementing LCTA. Specific objectives met include:

- Establish approximately 205 permanent LCTA plots and collect standard data on the topographic and vegetative conditions.
- Survey birds, mammals, reptiles, and amphibians on a subset of 60-90 of the plots.
- Assemble a collection of all vascular plants occurring on the installation.
- Identify locations of populations of plant species of special concern and unique habitat.
- Quantify and categorize wetlands on the installation and provide data to the National Wetlands Inventory to finalize official wetland maps.
- Document changes in the vegetation, soil erosion rates, and wildlife population over time.

During 1992, a total of 200 permanent plots were established and completely inventoried, including 60 plots surveyed for birds and small mammals. An additional 5 "special use" plots were established in 1993 to gain data on unique species, habitats, and areas of special interest. These new plots were located based on recommendations from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and Camp Grayling Environmental Staff. Larry Jacobs serves as LCTA coordinator.

Another component of ITAM is the Land Rehabilitation and Maintenance (LRAM) Program. The goal is to repair, restore, and maintain land impacted by training activities. LRAM provides guidance and technology for long-term maintenance programs and construction of rehabilitation projects. In 1992, Camp Grayling restored 37 acres of land using various methods including the planting of 1,000 red pine, revegetation, and closure of unused trail roads. During 1993, over 60 acres of land were restored and 1,500 red pines planted. An innovative project commenced in the fall of 1992, involved the harvesting and planting of native grasses found within Camp Grayling's boundaries. Field crews hand harvested seed from plants found on post and will replant an area of bare and eroded soils located just south of Lake Margrethe. Advantages to be gained from this project include cheaper seed costs, zero top-soiling costs, and protection of native species by not introducing "exotic" non-native species normally found in standard grass mixes.

Camp Grayling is utilizing a Geographical Information System (GIS) computer that enables them to process all natural resources data collected from various surveys and inventories and produce high quality color maps and management documents. Carla Elenz, environmental specialist, serves as GIS operator. Camp Grayling's GIS utilizes the Geographical Resource Analysis Support System, known as GRASS. This system was developed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Construction Engineering Research Lab (USACERL). Other high-tech equipment being used by the environmental office includes the Global Positioning System (GPS). This extremely accurate survey equipment works by triangulating time differences between radio signals from a series of 24 orbiting satellites. The hand held field "rover" units are accurate to within two meters when combined with the signal correcting base station now in place at Camp Grayling. The GPS will be used to locate and map species of special concern, locate and relocate field plots, delineate areas of unique habitat or concern, and map roads and other features. Data can then be easily entered into the GIS database for production of updated maps. The DMA has assisted various state agencies and universities in conducting wetlands restoration, eagle nest location surveys, and other projects.

The Michigan Natural Features Inventory, a joint project of The Nature Conservancy and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Natural Heritage Program conducted a systematic inventory of Camp Grayling for state and federally protected endangered and threatened species, occurrences of wetlands throughout the installation, and a complete collection of the flora. A total of 866 plant species were collected and identified during this two year study, with 11 state threatened and six special concern species discovered within the camp boundaries. The 866 plants account for 33 percent of Michigan's vascular plants found in less than one-half of one percent of the state's area. In addition, 97 insects were found, including the discovery of two new species previously unknown to science. Steps have been taken to protect all species and habitats. "In conjunction with the LCTA Program this could perhaps be the largest and most comprehensive natural resources inventory ever undertaken in the state. The results of this survey indicate that this area is much more rich and diverse than previously believed." All data has been made available to the public and various agencies such as the MDNR, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and state universities and colleges. For more information or to view the final report issued May 9, contact John W. Hunt, environmental manager at (517) 348-3600.

RANDY'S ASPHALT SERVICE

IRS, 'Beware of imposters'

Warm weather brings out all kinds of con artists and scams, including individuals posing as employees of the Internal Revenue Service.

"Every year we get reports of individuals impersonating IRS employees," said Cornelius Jackson, inspector-in-charge of the IRS Internal Security Division in Detroit. "The motive is usually financial gain," he said. "The imposters attempt to harass people or collect money for what they say are unpaid taxes."

Every IRS employee who makes contact with the public is required to carry distinctive identification and must show this when conducting official business.

He also emphasized that individuals should always ask to see credentials of anyone claiming to represent the IRS.

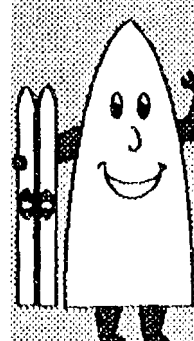

"People who doubt the validity of credentials offered, or the identity of telephone callers, may contact the Internal Security Division, collect, in Detroit at (313) 226-7340," he said. "We are available 24-hours a day."

In memory of

In loving memory of Ralph Helsel, Sr.

A million time we needed you,
A million times we cried.
If love alone could have saved you,
You would never have died.
If all the world was ours to give,
We would give it.
Yes, and more, to see you coming up the steps,
And walking thru the door.
To hear your voice, to see your smile,
To set and talk with you awhile.
To be with you the same old way,
Would be our fondest day.
A heart of gold stopped beating,
Two smiling eyes closed to rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He only takes the best.

His wife, Betty and families

The Bible Speaks

From the Calvary Baptist Church

Our Freedoms

Our United States of America was born July 4, 1776, in declared harmony with "the Laws of nature and of Nature's God." This new "separate and equal station" of our nation was founded upon God-given "unalienable Rights." No government has the authority to take away, diminish, or pervert these unalienable Rights. Read again this 4th of July 1994 our foundational truths:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness-

"That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,-

"That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness."

Believing in, and fighting for these moral absolutes, expresses the heart and soul of America's existence. On D-Day, June 6, 1944, President Franklin Roosevelt began his radio address to our nation with a prayer which reflected our national unity and purpose:

"Almighty God: Our sons, the pride of our nation, this day have set out upon a mighty endeavor, a struggle to preserve our Republic, our religion and our civilization, and to set free a suffering humanity." We defended our form of government, our faith in God, our culture, and the unalienable rights of others to share in these same freedoms.

During our recent 50-year-celebration of D-Day, writer George F. Will has beautifully epitomized our military struggles:

"D-Day came 30 years into the 75-year crisis that began in June 1914, with pistol shots in Sarajevo, and ended in Berlin, Nov. 9, 1989, when the Wall crumbled. Arguably, the invasion was the third of the three most consequential battles in American history—Saratoga, which saved the Revolution, Gettysburg, where the Confederacy crested, and Normandy, where the United States stepped forward as the leader of the West."

Do we still stand proud as one nation under Almighty God our King? Do we still sing like our forefathers, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee?" Are children still free to sing? "Our father's God, to Thee, Author of liberty, to Thee we sing: Long may our land be bright With freedom's holy light; Protect us by Thy might, Great God, our King!"

"The Protection of Divine Providence..."

Sunday James 2:1-13
Monday James 2:14-26	Tuesday 1 Peter 3:8-22
Wednesday 1 Peter 4:1-11	Thursday 1 John 3:11-24
Friday 1 John 4:7-21	Saturday Mary 9:33-37

What an appropriate phrase to be written in the concluding lines of a new beginning...the Declaration of Independence.

Our citizens are diverse...representative of all ages, all national descents, all races, religions, and creeds. We are unique, for such a diverse "melting pot" has not previously been known to man. Yet, in all the years since 1776, there has been only one Civil War fought on our soil. Our United States, though relatively young, is nevertheless a nation wholly dedicated to the preservation of peace and freedom.

As we celebrate our two hundred eighteenth birthday, as the drama of festive fireworks and the "Star Spangled Banner" ring in our ears, may we yet hear this historic echo, the foundation upon which our nation was built...and for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance upon the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our Sacred Honor."

VERSE OR WORSE

By Joe Murphy

Praying

I've heard folks say God doesn't answer prayers
With that I have to disagree
For many times I have called on him
And he has answered many prayers for me

No, I am not saying God came down to me
Saying, "What can I do for you today?"
But I know He listens and heeds me
Every time I kneel and pray

Perhaps my prayer goes unanswered
But it may have been contrary to His plan
I don't expect Him to grant my every wish
Like He was just a servant of man

We are here to serve the Lord
Not the other way around
And it is by serving not begging
That true contentment can be found

When I thank Him for His many blessings
And offer myself to serve His will
He leads me to where I may be needed
And my promise I fulfill

He supplies me the tools to work with
And the strength to do my task
So I can serve as He sees fit to use me
That's all that anyone could ask

He is the Master not the servant
That caters to our every whim
But like a kind and gentle master
He serves those who are serving Him

IT'S SMALLMOUTH BASS TIME AGAIN--
 The smallmouth bass start showing up about now all along the Great Lakes shoreline. You can catch them many ways. Big bright streamers on a fly rod is great fun. You can use spinning tackle with a jig head and rubber worm, working it along the bottom. Also live bait such as night crawlers or leeches work well. Grand Traverse Bay, both East and West, is always a good bet. Also Wilderness State Park up near Mackinaw City is excellent. You can wade the shoreline with waders or drifting with a small boat is a good bet.

A Birthday Poem

To Larry Eckardt
 From his Lovliness
 My hearing is gone,
 My bones they crack.
 Have I told you about my aching back?
 My gray hair I'm losing,
 Day by day.
 I eat lots of fiber,
 Or I'll have to pay.
 My cramping legs,
 My memory is shot.
 A double chin I have got.
 My eyesight is going,
 And I can't remember ____!
 I repeat myself,
 In my Lazy Boy I sit.
 In my polyester pants,
 My belly hangeth low.
 My mind is going fast,
 And my body's running slow.
 I'm set in my ways,
 So let me be!
 It sure is hell,
 Turning fifty three!

Softball league made to order for local girls

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

For many years, young Grayling area girls had nowhere to develop athletic skills. High school skiing was the only organized sport for girls. Younger girls had nothing.

More recently, girls who wanted to compete in baseball were allowed to play alongside boys in Little League. Although many girls competed successfully with the boys, others could not.

In 1992, the Grayling Little League determined there was a need for an organized girls' league, and the Girls'

Major League Softball League was born.

Today, there are two divisions of softball for girls. The Major League is for girls aged 9-12 and the Senior League is for girls 13-15. Instead of just a few girls making and playing steadily on teams with boys, today about 85 local girls are members of seven different teams.

"I like softball," said Glen's Market team member Heather Lynch, 11. "I like having fun with girls my own age, and we're getting real good."

Teams in the Major League are sponsored by Glen's, N'Orthopedics, Kiwanis of Grayling and Northern Michigan Medical in Roscommon.

Senior League teams are sponsored by Fick and Sons, DuBois Lumber and the Roscommon Little League.

Games are played at Millikin Field, Grayling High School and Roscommon Elementary School. Major League games are played on Monday and Wednesday evenings, and Senior League games are played on Monday and Thursday. The Majors play an 11-game schedule and the Senior League has an eight-game schedule.

"It's really good for the girls," said Glen's Coach Sue Ritter. "It's definitely going to improve softball at the high school level."

Although the game is for girls only, Ritter is the only female head coach in the Major League. Her entire volunteer staff is female, but all other staff members are male. In the Senior League, two of the three team coaches are female.

"It would really be neat for other women coaches to coach the little girls," Ritter said. "It's a learning experience for the kids, as well as the coaches."

Area athletes converge on 'field of dreams'

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

More than sixty young men from all around northern Michigan converged on the Grayling High School baseball field of dreams Thursday, June 23 to try to impress a team of Cincinnati Reds scouts.

They ran fast, threw hard, pitched straight and hit long, while members of the Reds watched and quietly jotted numbers and notes on clipboards. Occasionally a scout would step up to give advice and instruction to the young baseball hopefuls.

Local athletes Jim Abbey, Mike Kirmo, Chip Waite and Jason Thompson were among the 62 hoping to make their mark with the major league scouting staff.

The tryout camp in Grayling is one of two the Reds hold annually in Michigan in early summer. When they see someone with the skills that can be developed into big league talent, the Reds invite them to a third camp held in southern Michigan in August.

If Reds scouts still like what they see, the prospect may be drafted in the annual major league player draft. Athletes too young to go into the big leagues are invited to attend tryout camps in subsequent years.

Sixteen Reds scouting crews criss-cross the country every June, looking at thousands of prospective baseball players.

"Our crew will look at about 3,000 prospects," said Gene Bennett. "Of those, maybe 100 will eventually be drafted by major league teams. Ninety percent of the Reds players come through camps like this."

Bennett is a special assistant to the Reds general manager and the leader of the eight-man scouting crew. He has been a member of the Reds organization, first as a player then as a scout, for 42 years.

Bennett said the Grayling turnout was the best he'd seen in 10 years and he was impressed with the talent of some of the athletes.

"The purpose is to find talent," Bennett said. "Once you find the talent, then you can develop it into a ball player."

Bennett explained once a player is signed to a contract they normally begin their careers at one of the Reds six minor league affiliates.

Local team in state tournament

American Legion Post 416 of St. Helen will be sending a team of young men from the area to play in the 1994 District 10 American Legion Baseball Tournament in Midland.

The team is made up of 16 to 18 year old boys from Grayling, Roscommon, St. Helen and Mio and is coached by Doug Dosson of Roscommon. To prepare for the tournament, which is scheduled to begin on July 21st, the team will play approximately 34 games with American Legion teams from Gladwin, West Branch, Cadillac, Kalkaska, Bay City, Harrison and Breckenridge.

"I am very impressed with the ability and maturity of these players," Coach

Dosson said. "And I know that they will represent our area well."

In addition to Post 416, the team has also received financial support from Burger King of Grayling, Roscommon-St. Helen Little League, Grayling Little League, the Grayling/Roscommon Moose Lodge and Century 21 of St. Helen.

Grayling winners in Gaylord Gus Macker tourney

John Junttila (Above) displays the championship trophy his team won in the Gus Macker adult division. John teamed up with Bill Roach, Russ Clark and Tim Wolffis to win all five of their games. Their team was sponsored by Sylvester's of Grayling.

FOX RUN GOLF NEWS

By Dick Spenny

Despite a rare loss to Larry Sumerix and Dick Spenny, Jeff Nester and Bob Jansen are virtually assured of a first half championship in Fox Run's first flight. They carry a 12 point lead into the final position night match against Tim Gilchrist and Brian Farrell. It would seem that there is no way to lose, but larger leads have vanished.

The second flight is a totally different story. The lead has taken more bounces than a golf ball in a tile bathroom and four teams go into the deciding contests with only seven points separating fourth from first. Don Nester and Stu Beauregard lead at 86.5, but Jerry DeWitt and Dick Figley are only three back. The second top pairing will pit Bill Denemy and Rodger Wagner against Mike Griffin and Don Moore. A big win in this match could vault one of these teams into first.

Third flighters Don Routly and Steve Ament must look over their shoulders a bit as Steve Green and Larry Johns are only 10.5 behind and the win could easily elude the leaders.

Mike Nowak and Doug Allen are kings of the hill in flight four at the moment, but Jim Watson and George Kehoe are nipping at the heels at only 4.5 back. Bob Porter has been subbing for the ailing Kehoe and has had a big hand in bringing the team close to a crown.

Individual scoring seemed a bit flat in week seven. Terry Abernathy's 39 net 33 was a good effort, as was Tom Bailey's 38 net 34. No one in any flight managed to net in the sub 30 area as has happened over the past few weeks. Bill Denemy and Don Nester brought home net 35 in two flight but no scratch scores were stellar.

Third flighter Doug Furstenau provided some highlights with a gross 44 net 33 and Tim Hart brought home a net 35. Ralph Desloover netted at 36 to pace his fourth flight peers. Bob Porter signed a net 37 card to continue his fine sub play.

The Thursday ladies league has completed its fifth week of play and first flight leaders Chapdelaine and Tindall are holding a slim 4.5 point lead over the Mires-Sullivan duo. Carole Ostling playing in a sub role carved out a gross 44 to lead all players and Barb Chapdelaine netted at 37 for those honors.

Croze-DiPonio enjoy a two point lead over Gates-Lantzsch in second flight as Carolyn Gates turned in an excellent score of 53 to pace the group. In flight three, the team of LaForge-Schroeder are but 2.5 in the lead over Abernathy and Griffin. Colleen Schroeder's gross 52 was low this week and Shirley Griffin's practice time produced a fine net 35 for that honor.

Fox Run men's league closes first half

By Dick Spenny

It would seem that Kevin Marshall, 13, of Fox Run Country Club, believes in starting at the top. He entered his first tournament ever, the Maxfli-PGA Regional Junior Championships at High Pointe Country Club and finished second in his age bracket. His score of 98 qualifies him to advance to the state championships to be held in Grand Rapids on July 28 and 29. Parents Rick and Joey Marshall will no doubt provide a good gallery in his quest for a title.

The Wednesday men's league closed the first half of play with two flight races coming down to the last putt on the last hole. In flight four, Jim Watson and Bob Porter edged Doug Allen and Mike Nowak by a mere one-half point. Porter's net 38 iced the victory. Doc Oppy gave the course a dose of its own medicine as he signed a net 33 card. Clare Rood netted at 34.

Flight three standard bearers are Don Routly and Steve Ament. The pair was never in jeopardy as they won going away with a 13 to 8 win in eighth week action. Steve Green and Leo Johns were a distant second, 15.5 points behind.

Second flight rivals Don Nester and course owner Jerry DeWitt were partners one year ago. This year, with new teammates, they battled to the wire for the first half title. Nester and partner Stu Beauregard triumphed on the final nine to bag the gold and the bragging rights. Six points separated the two teams at the wire with two other teams only seven points out. Mike Griffin blasted the league with his great 36 net 30. Steve Stuck and sub Steve Such both inked net 32 cards in winning causes. Back to back birdies by a 12 handicapper are about as rare as things get but Dan Bundy earned sub of the month ratings netting at 32 with twin birds on 15 and 16. In doing so, he vaulted the Spenny-Sumerix team from fourth to second in the search for a wild card playoff spot. Flight champs Jeff Nester and Bob Jansen won in a laughter with a final victory margin of 17.5 points.

Jim Lederman set the face in first flight with a 36 net 31 round. The par round was posted despite a four putt twelfth green.

The Fox Run ladies have logged six weeks of play and close races are the standard on Thursdays. The Sullivan-Mires duo lead by only one-half point over the Spenny-Sumerix team in first flight. Lou Spenny's gross 48 led the pack and Jacie Tindall blazed a net 34 to gather the handicap honors.

Second flight leaders, Gates and Lantzsch sport a razor thin one-half point lead over Croze and DiPonio. Cheryl Legg tied for both gross and net here with a 52-35. Roni Coulter turned a fine net 35 and Carolyn Gates tied at gross 52. Colleen Schroeder continued her fine play as she carved out a gross 51 in third flight. Shirley Griffin led all players with a net 31. The LaForge-Schroeder team holds a seven point lead over the Abernathy-Griffin pair.

The British are coming! (Back to Marathon)

By Dennis Mansfield
Managing Editor

The British are coming! Two teams from the British Isles are prepared to invade the waters of the AuSable River for the 47th Annual Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon set for July 30-31.

The two teams will join the more than 80 other expected paddlers to compete for more than $47,000 in the annual event known as the "granddaddy" of canoe marathons.

Sprints for starting position will be held Thursday (5-8 p.m.) and Friday (3-6 p.m.), July 28 and 29, at Penrod's Canoe Livery. The 47th Marathon will kick off with the La Mans-style run to the river at Ray's Canoe Livery at 9 p.m. on Saturday, July 30.

Paddler Andy Guest of Worcester, England and partner Jo Lyons are set as one of the two teams ready to race, with Peter Jones and making his second consecutive trip to the AuSable River Valley.

Guest and Lyons, both of whom are school teachers, have been paddling together since 1990. Guest has been racing C2 since 1986, and in 1987 represented Great Britain in several World Cup Grand Prix events, winning the Swedish World Cup race that same year.

Lyons first represented Great Britain in 1984 while paddling in slalom competition. He finished fourth in the World Championships Rapid Racing in 1987.

"In 1992, I visited the USA and Canada with my old partner on holiday to see what the racing was like," said Guest in a letter to race organizers. "In 1993, Joe and myself decided to put all our efforts into the marathon."

The two paddlers had hoped to win a trip across the seas for the 46th racing of the Marathon by competing in the Devizes to Westminster race in England, but were forced to withdraw after 64 miles because of an injury.

Lyons underwent surgery to remove a disc in his back in May of 1993.

"This year we have had a slow but good start to the season," Guest stated. "We had planned for a world cup race in Sweden in May and the World Championships in September, so your race would fit in real well."

In 1993, the British team of Jones and Karl Slater finished 29th, with a time of 16:56:54, more than two and a half hours behind the first-place team of Serge Corbin and Solomon Carriere, both of Canada. A total of 38 teams completed in 1993 Marathon.

Steve Southard, who has helped organize the Marathon for the past 15 years, said the fact that two teams are coming from England for the Marathon shows the growth of the event internationally.

"It's two significant things," he said. "It shows that the Marathon is becoming an international event, and is one of the primary events in North America."

"Also, they came here and had a good time, enjoyed the hospitality of the area. They were happy with the sponsorship of the event. They thought it was a quality event," Southard added.

The two teams will be flown courtesy of Northwest Airlines. But that's not all, according to Marathon organizers.

Also attending this year's race will be Ron Isles, an independent sports film-maker, and Stuart Fischer, sponsored by Northwest Airlines, the Grayling Area Visitors Council, the Michigan Travel Bureau and the Grayling Holiday Inn.

"They're producing a piece for Scottish television, and for a regular British television station," said Southard.

The film team will also be producing a 5-minute spot for Transworld Sports, a one-hour program transmitted via cable and satellite.

"It's feed to 179 million homes in 92 countries," he added. "It's the biggest exposure (for the race) so far."

Locally, a one-hour recap of the Marathon will be aired on PASS on Sunday, Aug. 14 at 1:30 p.m.

Individuals will also be able to purchase a highlight video of the '94 Marathon. For more information, persons may call (517) 348-4425.

BRITISH MARATHON TEAM OF 1993--In 1993 the British team of Karl Slater (L) and Peter Jones (R) finished the Marathon in a very respectable 29th position. They are pictured here with Marathon veteran paddler Lynr Witte at the Oscoda finish line.

Spikes Challenge medallion hunt to run July 1 - 9

The first annual Spike's Challenge Milltown Medallion Hunt will take place this summer from July 1st through July 9th, with morning and evening clues broadcasted by radio stations WGRY and WQON. Tune in to these stations for exact times.

Approximately $500 awaits the lucky hunters wise enough to decipher the cryptic clues, and with 10 medallions hidden somewhere in Crawford County, many people will be $10 to $200 richer by the end of the hunt.

Two clues will be given each day up to Saturday morning, July 9, and will lead hunters to the medallions. The hunters will need to turn in their medallion to Spike's Keg 'O Nails to validate their finding, and the lucky winners will be matched up to their prize by a drawing to be held in the City Park on Saturday, July 9, at approximately 8 p.m.

Spike's Keg 'O Nails will have a list of up-to-date clues available during their normal business hours. This medallion hunt is limiting the prizes to one per family. Do not allow your greed to ruin the hunt.

There is no entry fee to join in the hunt. The medallions are hidden on public property somewhere in Crawford County. They might be under something, over something, wedged or tied to an object. They might be right next to a road or you may have to get out and walk. It is guaranteed "you will get wet." You may even need a canoe or boat.

Sponsors of this year's hunt are Spike's Keg 'O Nails, Sylvester's, Buccilli's Pizza, Grayling Fuelgas, Grayling Ford Mercury Lincoln, Wolohan Lumber, Davis Jewelry, The Swamp II, Clair's Standard, The Framery II, and Citipark Citgo.

Chamber of Commerce committee updates

Military Receptions The Military Affairs Committee of the chamber would like to remind our members that the second of four scheduled military receptions will be held this month on Tuesday, July 12. Please remember, the sponsorship fee for each reception is only $25 each, for a total of $100. Each military sponsor will have the opportunity to distribute a maximum of 100 brochures for each reception, to be handed out to our military guests. Additionally, each sponsor will receive a sponsor pin to be worn at the receptions to assure special recognition as a military sponsor. However, there is no admission fee for any chamber member to attend the military affairs functions, reservations are requested. If interested in becoming a military sponsor, please call the chamber office for details, 348-2921.

Wake up with a chamber member! "Good Morning Grayling" is a great way to introduce your business to over 300 area business professionals through the Chamber Network. There is no fee associated with this program, either for sponsorship or attendance. If your business is interested in hosting a "Good Morning Grayling" get-together, simply call the chamber office for details.

Education Committee focuses on Junior Achievement

The Education Committee of the chamber has been working in partnership with the Crawford AuSable School District to provide a innovative program offered through the Junior Achievement organization. The initial pilot programs were offered in the eighth and ninth grade classes.

The course study in the eighth grade class was entitled "Project Business." A real life look at running a business and the challenges that are associated with such an endeavor. At the ninth grade level "The Economics Of Staying In School" was presented. This program highlighted the living expenses associated with dropping out of school. Each of the programs were offered by local business consultants who were trained through the Michigan Junior Achievement Network.

AuSable River Festival nears

The Festival Committee of the chamber has been working with member of the AuSable River Canoe Marathon, Mercy Hospital, Grayling Promotional Association and local safety and government agencies to assure another successful event for 1994. Other organizations such as the Grayling Uptown District Association and the AuSable Quilt Guild have added to the festival with their own planned events. For a full listing of 1994 AuSable River

Festival and Marathon events, look for the program books that will be available in local businesses beginning July 11. The next meeting of the festival committee is scheduled for Wednesday, July 13th, all interested individuals are welcome to attend the 8 a.m. meeting at the Iron Gate Restaurant.

Chamber membership survey big task

The Membership Committee of the chamber initiated a phone survey of the 320 members of the chamber back in January. The task of contacting each of the chamber members has proven to be no small task. For this reason, the executive director of the chamber is reminding all members that a simple phone call to the chamber office can facilitate a meeting, and she would be happy to personally visit any chamber member business. Meanwhile, over the next two months, every effort will be made to complete the calling of chamber members. To date, well over two-thirds of the members have been contacted.

G.A.V.C. FEATURES

GAVC assists Grayling's tourist-related efforts

Over the past year, the Grayling Area Visitors Council (GAVC) has provided support to many organizations whose efforts were to bring visitors to the Grayling area. For example, the GAVC has, over the past two years, provided administrative support to the Greater Grayling Snowmobile Association and assisted with their projects.

The GAVC has also made their national 1-800 number available to the M-72 Lake To Lake Association, a group that was formed to facilitate an upgraded highway system along M-72 to enhance recreational travel for our visitors and guests. The visitors council has also supported the Grayling Recreation Authority winter brochure distribution to the downstate markets. Within the past month the GAVC has provided sponsorship to the Crawford County Cruisers and their antique car show in Frederic.

This month the Grayling Area Visitors Council will be setting their promotional budget for the 1995 fiscal year which begins Aug. 1, 1994. All future support to local organizations will be based on the budget set for next year's activities.

Road kills accelerate on American highways

By Pat Durkin
National Geographic
News Service

Automobiles and trucks are steadily accelerating the disappearance of the miniature white-tailed deer that once flourished on Big Pine Key, FL, a tropical vacation island in the lower Florida keys.

Today, only about 300 Key deer, a federally designated endangered species, survive in a national refuge here. A sign by the entrance keeps a tally on the slaughter of deer on the refuge's roads.

"Road kill's always the biggest mortality factor," said Jon Andrew, the refuge manager. "We lose 40 to 45 animals each year."

Across the United States, every day at least a million animals, from the rare to the ordinary, end their lives on roads and highways. No one knows how many injured animals crawl away and die undetected.

The highest toll is among small animals. Carcasses of squirrels, woodchucks, raccoons and birds are so common along the roadside that motorists hardly notice them.

But a surprising number of large animals succumb to motor vehicles. Many thousand full-size deer die on U.S. roads each year. Colorado loses 200 to 300 elk. New Jersey loses about 50 black bears. In the Southeast, crocodiles are regularly run over.

Fragile populations of wildlife are particularly vulnerable. Five Florida panthers were killed on state highways last year, a major blow to a dwindling population of fewer than 50 of the endangered cats.

In south Texas, cars and trucks threaten the last ocelots in the United States.

In upstate New York, prospects for restoring lynx there dimmed last year when nearly a third of 83 newly released animals were run over within weeks.

Automobiles and trucks are thought to be one of the many reasons for the decline in turtles, frogs, and snakes. "A factor like that can push fragile populations over the brink," said Rainer Brocke, a wildlife ecologist with the State University of New York at Syracuse.

"With more habitat being fragmented by highways, animals' exposure to vehicles is increased," said Guy Hodge of the Humane Society of the United States.

Spring and fall, when many species must cross roads to migrate, look for new territory or seek mates, are the deadliest seasons.

Roads themselves act as magnets. Insects sunning themselves on road surfaces attract birds. Deer, woodchucks and other animals graze along grassy shoulders.

Even when human safety is concerned, however, getting drivers to focus on the problem has proven difficult. Collisions with deer are increasing, because deer herds have expanded in most regions. Running into a deer often means expensive auto-body work and, occasionally, injury to people in the vehicles.

But research shows that even when warned, many drivers don't slow down and watch for deer, particularly at night, when the animals are most active. Even animated neon signs have been ignored.

Humane Society warnings go largely unheeded, as has a national campaign launched three years ago to cut the carnage.

"Given the way people drive — without much regard for themselves or other drivers — to expect them to show much regard for animals is unrealistic," Hodge tells National Geographic.

In some areas, many drivers take for granted occasional collisions with animals. "Everyone around here has deer dents in their cars," said Helen Chappell, whose column in the Baltimore Sun chronicles life around the Chesapeake Bay. "They just pound them out and keep going."

Sometimes the highway slaughter is treated as a joke. There are "road-kill specials" at country cafes, road-kill cookbooks and, in Marlinton, WV, the annual Road Kill Cook-off, with entries such as "Dagwood's 18-wheeler venison" and "stir-tired possum."

It's no laughing matter to wildlife experts. Eight-foot fences offer the best protection for deer, they've found. But fences cost a lot and obstruct views.

Underpasses are another solution. Researchers have learned that animals will use tunnels if they're placed beneath well-used crossing areas and are sufficiently spacious to prevent the animals from feeling hemmed in.

Mule deer use an underpass near Vail, CO, to make seasonal migrations from lower to higher ground.

Garter snakes in a section of Canada's Manitoba Province will soon use a 500-foot tunnel to avoid a highway during the annual spring migration to their mating grounds, an event that usually attracts about 14,000 tourists.

Smaller, tube-like underpasses have been built in England and the United States for migrating frogs and toads.

To protect the last of the Florida panthers, 36 underpasses have been installed at intervals along the route between Naples and Fort Lauderdale. Another is being built on Key Largo as a crocodile crossing.

But the Key deer's salvation may be found above ground, not below. Florida officials are considering elevated highways to separate the little deer from road traffic.

Purchase and repair home with one loan

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) is offering a new program that will help families purchase a home and at the same time it provides dollars to make improvements to the home. It is a new opportunity for families throughout Michigan to receive low interest, 30 year mortgages that provide people with money to fix up the home they buy. The loans are available with a five percent down payment.

Individuals may be able to buy a home and fix it up at the same time. According to Susan Mireley, MSU Extension Housing Specialist and state coordinator of the Michigan Home Ownership Educational Network, the major goal of the "buy it and fix it" program is to offer a home buyer the opportunity to purchase a home and make major repairs to improve the home, all with one loan.

The loan package contains no discount points and a fixed interest rate loan, with rates starting as low as 5.25 percent for individuals making up to $21,000. The maximum income per household is $41,700. The program allows for a combination of home buyer investment, the use of gifts and grants, sweat equity, and unsecured loans to make the five percent down payment. Rehabilitation of the purchased home can include all basic repairs, excluding swimming pools.

The Crawford County Extension Service will be conducting a "home buying workshop" on July 18th from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Crawford County Courthouse. The educational program is free and open to all who are interested in buying a home, learning about this new home buying alternative, or about other loan programs available from MSHDA and other commercial lenders. Contact your extension service at 348-2841, extension 264, if you have any questions or would like to attend this educational event.
